++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry and cold.

Today:
Cold and frosty at first. Remaining largely dry with occasional sunny spells in the east. However, thickening cloud could bring the odd spot of rain further west. Still rather cold for most but turning milder in the far west. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Increasingly cloudy overnight with outbreaks of light rain or drizzle spreading south as it also turns breezy. Feeling chilly under early cloud breaks, but turning milder than of late. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
Remaining windy and cloudy through Tuesday. The cloud thick enough for further patchy rain at times, this turning heavier and more persistent in the evening. Feeling milder than recent days. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Blustery showers on Wednesday, and colder again. Drier, brighter and less windy on Thursday before a band of rain and snow sweeps through overnight into Friday with further strong winds.
